

Abstract

Techniques and systems for applying analytical computations of stresses to layers with embedded line features to obtain stress information, to design microstructures, and to design and 5 control fabrication processes.

10352880.doc